BLUE AND GOLD SOCCER TEAM EDGES WESLEYAN

Comes From Behind in Third Period to Score 3-2 Victory

FOURTH STRAIGHT WIN

Mowbray's Goal Decides After Tallies by Stein, Warren; Childs Plays Well

The Trinity College soccer team added its fourth victim to its list on November 3 at Middletown, Conn., when it defeated the Wesleyan eleven by a 3 to 2 margin. To date the Trinity team is undefeated and untied in its first four starts. The soccer team is establishing an unprecedented record by virtue of three victories over collegiate teams. In the past there has been no recognition of this sport by the Athletic Association.

Shortly after the opening of the game, Trinity opened up with a passing offense that terminated in a score. Lou Warren, taking a pass from his wing, sent the ball into the net from the 30-yard line, putting Trinity into the lead. For the remainder of the period neither team could muster a tally, but the Trinity team threatened on several occasions. The Wesleyan team, seemingly aroused, came back strong in the second quarter. The first score came as a result of a penalty kick which was converted by Roxby. Again Wesleyan tallied when Bean drove a hard shot past Childs from the 10-yard marker. Only through the splendid defensive work of Childs were the Cardinals prevented from further scoring.

In the third period play was about even, with Wesleyan having a slight edge. Allen, Wesleyan goalie, made several nice stops of the Trinity forward line's drives. With ten minutes left to play in the last period, the Blue and Gold team put on a sustained drive which resulted in two markers and ultimate victory. Lou Stein, substitute wing, tied the score on a short kick directly in front of the Wesleyan goal. With three minutes to play, Captain Terry Mowbray whose work during the season has been of a high order, took the ball at midfield and dribbled through the entire Wesleyan defense to score the winning goal.

Warner, Childs, and Warren were the outstanding men on Coach Gil Wright's squad, while Goode and Allen shone for the losers.

The summary:

Trinity	Wesleyan

MARTIN LUTHER MEMORIAL.

An invitation has been extended to the students of Trinity College to share in the celebration in commemoration of the 450th anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther. This celebration will be held Sunday evening in Bushnell Hall. Aside from the two addresses to be made on that occasion, one of them by Governor Cross, the music will, in part, consist of Martin Luther's hymn and some of Bach's Chorals. The organist of the occasion is Mr. Henry E. Bonander, father of Victor Bonander of the Sophomore Class.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.

The Thanksgiving recess will, therefore, begin at 4 o'clock on Wednesday, November 29, and will continue until 8 o'clock on the morning of Monday, December 4.

CRAIG DEFEATS MOWBRAY TO TAKE TENNIS CUP

Slow, Conservative Battle Marks Finals of Fall Tennis Tournament

On Tuesday, October 31, Craig defeated Mowbray in the finals of the fall tennis tournament by a score of 7-5, 6-4. Craig was presented with a silver trophy representing a player serving a ball mounted on an onyx base. He is a senior, and captain of the tennis team.

In the semi-finals, Craig's greater experience and steadiness overcame Denisoff 7-5, 6-2. Mowbray's accuracy in driving likewise defeated Jackson 6-8, 6-2, 6-3. This brought Trinity's number one and two men on last year's varsity tennis team against each other in the finals. The match was slow, each man conservatively lobbing for every point. Mowbray's self-assurance and hard drives were not up to his usual game, and Craig used his smashing serve and steady play to advantage. The final score, 7-5, 6-4, is representative of the trend of the match from beginning to end.

In the third round preceding the final matches, there were no upsets other than the defeat of Stein, letterman in tennis, by Denisoff. Mowbray defeated W. Kirby; Mason defeated Barrows; Jackson won from Fineberg; A. Shaw defeated Flaherty; Craig defeated Patton; B. Shaw defeated McCook; Denisoff defeated Stein; and Maynard won from Miller.

The quarter-finals of the tournament found the favorites advancing in all matches. Mason defaulted to Mowbray; Jackson defeated A. Shaw; Craig defeated B. Shaw; and Denisoff won his match from Maynard.

SAMPERS CROSSES GOAL

First Grid Victory over Cardinals Since 1925—Undergraduates Storm Goal Posts

Saturday afternoon, November 4, was the event of Trinity's much-hoped-for defeat of Wesleyan. The contest, staged on Andrus Field in Middletown, afforded the spectators on both sides a great deal of excitement, as Trinity came up from behind in the last period to win 14 to 6. The game marked Trinity's first victory over Wesleyan since 1925.

After Marquet's pass to Eigenbauer for a touchdown in the first play of the last quarter, the Blue and Gold cheering section was on its feet until the game reached its happy ending. Eigenbauer, supported by a smooth

FROSH ELEVEN DEFEATED BY WESLEYAN YEARLINGS

Long Pass in Last Period Gives Cardinals 19 to 12 Margin; Kobrosky Stars

Last Friday, November 3, on its home field, the Trinity freshman football team lost to the Wesleyan freshmen by a score of 19 to 12, in a hard-fought game, preceding the annual battle between the two varsity aggregations on Saturday.

The game started with Kobrosky kicking off for Trinity. The Cardinals made two first downs but were finally stopped and forced to kick. Punts were exchanged and the ball came to rest in Trinity's possession on its 20-yard line. Wesleyan recovered a fumble, and on the fifth play after the recovery, Klinger ran the ball over the goal line for the first score of the game. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful. After Wesleyan kicked off to the Blue and Gold and one play had been run, the quarter ended with Wesleyan on the long end of a 6 to 0 score.

When play was resumed, Kobrosky gained 18 yards for Trinity around right end, and after an unsuccessful line play, the Blue and Gold team kicked. When Trinity again got possession of the ball, Kobrosky gained 20 yards around right end. Two completed passes from Kobrosky to Lindell and Little, respectively, netted a total gain of 25 yards. A line play which was stopped and three incompleting passes, the last one over the goal line, gave the ball to Wesleyan on its own 20-yard line. The Cardinals kicked to the 38-yard line. Several line plays and two passes brought the pigskin up to the 8-yard line. Wesleyan held for two plays but Little finally plunged over. Again the try for the extra point was unsuccessful. After some uneventful playing around mid-field, the half ended with the score tied 6 to 6.

In the second half Trinity kicked off to Wesleyan. The Cardinals ran two line plays which netted no gain and threw a pass which Kobrosky intercepted and ran back to the invaders' 8-yard line. After one line play for a 2-yard gain Kobrosky went over the goal line for Trinity's second score. The extra point was not made and the score stood at 12 to 6. After the kick-off the Cardinals threatened the Trinity goal line but were stopped.

MR. ROTH ASKS 1937 TO GAIN PERSPECTIVE HERE

History Teacher Talks on "Third Dimension" to Freshmen at Matriculation

Addressing the Freshman Class at the Matriculation exercises in the Chapel last Wednesday, Mr. Laurence V. Roth declared that Trinity should be the place where men perceive the "third dimension", or a clear perspective of life. Deploring the modern tendency towards specialization early in life, he said that here a Freshman should learn the meaning of life.

Tracing the swing of the "historical pendulum", Mr. Roth cited several instances when "men found they could not live by bread alone". Bringing the relation between culture and absolutism down to the present day, he declared that the world is now facing a grave crisis. "Democracy is on trial", he said. "We are drifting toward government control and a curb on free institutions . . . Intense nationalism will result in warfare, but men with vision can see a harmonic world. . . . You Freshmen will have a share in these problems."

To prepare themselves better for what is in store for them, Mr. Roth advised the class of 1937 to read good books, learn to appreciate art and music, and discuss intelligent subjects. He went on to ridicule some modern paintings, as being anything but clear and distinct, and declared that today's artists could do well to follow the clarity of classic Greek art.

"These four years are important," he concluded, "Remember, they are not an end in themselves, but a means to an end: living the game of life."

ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

A letter has been sent to the parents of all the students at Trinity College, asking them to participate in an arrangement by which undergraduates may be protected against the cost of accidents, athletic and otherwise. Large numbers of replies are being received at the College Office, and the success of the scheme seems assured.

working and powerful line, excelled all afternoon, as he made substantial yardage time after time, supplementing his shorter gains with several breath-taking runs.

The first quarter passed with no scores tallied. In the first few minutes of play, the Blue and Gold carried the ball to Wesleyan's 20-yard line, but the Cardinal defense was too strong to permit a score. Wesleyan gained possession of the ball on downs and progressed to mid-field, where the greater part of the struggle was enacted until the end of the first period.

The second quarter saw Wesleyan make its only touchdown. The Cardinal eleven had the ball on its own 45-yard line, when a lateral pass from Burton to Johnson netted 16 yards. Wesleyan was penalized 5 yards, but, with another first down, Burton sent a forward pass to Johnson, who caught it on Trinity's 30-yard line and raced through for a touchdown. Burton missed the extra point on a placement kick. On the kick-off Eigenbauer caught the ball on his own goal line, eluded two tacklers on his 30-yard line and weaved a path to the 50-yard line, where he was forced outside. Eigenbauer and Brewer now gained 15 yards on rushes. A 5-yard penalty against Wesleyan gave Trinity first down on the former's 25-yard line. Marquet fumbled on the first play, the ball being recovered by Wesleyan, and the half ended.

Three times in the third quarter Jessee's men reached Wesleyan's 20-yard line. Each threat was repelled by a tightened Wesleyan defense. It was obvious now, even if not before,

WE NEED A STUDENT COUNCIL

Time and again we have had occasion in these columns to praise the Senators and their enthusiastic leader, Charles Kingston, for their untiring efforts in creating a Trinity-conscious undergraduate body. Now we can truly applaud the excellent results of these efforts, and claim that the Senate has already brought about an amazing change.

Friday night, through an unfortunate slip-up in the plans, and a perhaps necessary decision of the administration, the students were forced to postpone the bonfire which they had planned weeks before as a fitting rally before the Wesleyan game. The sudden decision ruling that the fire could not take place, turned out to be a bitter pill, yet the students swallowed it in a spirit, not so much of resignation, but of willingness to cooperate with the powers that be.

Thus it is that because the Senate has proven that it realizes its responsibilities and will cooperate in this manner with the authorities, we plead once more for a Student Council. We are certain that the undergraduates have a right to make known to the Faculty their side of questions having to do with necessary rulings governing College Body activities. Several informal meetings of late between upperclassmen and Faculty members have shown, without doubt, the value of a representative student body to offer for consideration its opinions concerning undergraduate regulations.

IN DEFENSE OF THE ROVER BOYS

Day after day, or at least every once in a short while, someone asks us why we neglect to include in the somber pages of the Tripod some bit of humor—a column of jokes, or even a nasty revival of the old "Neath the Archway." Realizing that a valiant bluff at being serious was far easier than attempting to write humor, we ignored such requests until we read the contribution entitled "Guess Who?", which we promptly offered to our greedy readers. The story was, except in one or two instances, gratefully accepted, and we are bold enough to print a series starting in this issue, by the same author, with the promising title of "The Rover Boys at Trinity." It's humor to most of us. We await the response of our numerous critics.

THE NEW SPIRIT

We have noticed with some amazement the recent departure from conservatism in this college. We think that it is good, to a large extent. There is no doubt that Trinity has for some years lacked spirit; the need for it is felt by new men and when they are upper-classmen, they forget even this and settle down indifferently to a college life which, though pleasant, is without common feeling.

Naturally, there is always the unfortunate division between fraternity and non-fraternity men, and it prevents complete unity of sentiment. But this difficulty can become insignificant in matters where the college as a whole is concerned. It is joyfully forgotten when two hundred and fifty men march, singing, through the streets of the town. To point, the rally before the Coast Guard game brought a new sensation to us. We were excited and we showed it wholeheartedly. We all thought it was a good thing, and felt that somehow we had been raised from the dead. The consequence was immediate plans for a bigger and better rally before the Wesleyan game. So this time the spirit of our march through town infected not only the participants, but also the people of Hartford, and, which is more important, the team!

We are sure that while we stopped traffic, we caused more smiles than frowns; there were more exclamations of surprise than there were of disapproval.

There has been much superfluous talk about the childishness of having a "rah-rah" spirit at Trinity. We are expected to be mature enough to put away such things. We are mature enough to recognize and to avoid extremes, but let us continue our new enthusiasm. We have all been made conscious of it, and on Saturday the team reflected it.

THE ROVER BOYS

ON SUNDAY MORNING.

The scene of this sketch takes place in the living room of that foreboding stronghold of culture—a fraternity house. The time—in case you didn't notice the title—is Sunday morning. Specifically, it is about 11 a. m. Sprawled about the furniture are a number of highly developed protoplasmic beings upon closer inspection turn out to be human beings. And among them are our three heroes, Tom, Dick, and Wilberforce Rover—whom you knew a few weeks ago as Stoop, Nagle, and Budd. As readers of this series well know, the three Rovers—as fine, upstanding examples of American youth as one could shake a stick at (and who has not?), came to Trinity to prepare themselves for Life. To date, they have been a bit obstructed in their quest for knowledge, owing to not having been able to find the Economics room yet. As a result of this, they have overcut the course six times apiece and have received notices some time ago that they are no longer in the college, but it takes a great deal more than that to cut down the careers of our three jolly, fun-loving brothers so they have retaliated by carrying out a three-man boycott on the Eccey class.

As practically anybody who is anybody knows, Dick Rover is the oldest of our trio and is very serious, with steadfast brown eyes. This morning his left eye is being steadfast all by itself, as he has not yet been very successful in getting the other one open. He is sitting on the edge of a sofa holding his firm young chin in his firm young hand which in turn is being supported rather precariously by his firm young elbow. Dick's fascinating conversational powers (well-known to all of you who have read the 5,678 previous volumes of this series, all entitled "The Rover Boys Before They Came to Trinity"), are not quite up to par this morning, his audible remarks thus far having been confined to "oh, my God!"

Tom Rover is not as old as Dick but he is older than Wilberforce, who is the youngest (that seems to take care of that), and he is very fun-loving and has laughing grey eyes. Of course, he only likes good, wholesome fun and the three Rovers have enjoyed many hearty laughs over Tom's previous boyish pranks, including the time he slipped the ground glass into Dr. Ogilby's soup. Tom also likes to pull the wings off flies, and knock crutches out from under old ladies. As he has often said (with a roguish twinkle, you may be sure), "The older they are, the harder they fall!" Tom is indeed the card of the Rover family, except maybe this morning. At the present time he is lying on his stomach on the floor trying to read the sport page of the Hartford Courant without taking his jaw off the floor—a good thing if well done. Because of a slight overdose of good, wholesome fun in West Hartford last night, he is feeling rather bad.

Wilberforce Rover, last, and in fact least, of the Rover brothers, is trying to play a record on the Victrola. He has stabbed himself three times trying to put the needle into the right crack and is about to give it up as a bad job. Wilberforce is a dope and I hope that all my young readers will forget him immediately.

BOOK REVIEW

"ANOTHER GARDENER'S BED-BOOK", by Richardson Wright. Lippincott, 1933.

If there are any gardeners in the college, they should see this entertaining book by our distinguished alumnus. If they read it, they find not only a wealth of simple advice on cultivating, but scores of anecdotes, well told, and twelve "long pieces", which are actually familiar essays upon varied subjects. The author steers clear of producing anything like a textbook, for he hopes that not all who read it will be garden putterers.

The book contains three hundred and sixty-five short pieces; one for every day in the year, or better, for every night, as, presumably, it is to be read in bed after you have cast off your day's cares. Often these pieces are more or less irrelevant to flowers and such (that is the appeal to the man who has other hobbies), but may be followed by one sentence, set off by itself, for the benefit of ambitious gardeners; for example, Mr. Wright gives us two paragraphs on two very tasty soups he has discovered. Following this comes the italicized sentence, "About this time you are usually safe in lifting the mulch off Crocus, Scillas, and Chionodoxas." That's all you will have to read on the night of February 3. Again, he tells of a list which he is collecting of "men who made their living by honorable, though strange ways," and cites one Robert Smith, by Royal Patent Rat Catcher to the Princess Amelia. On things of this sort Mr. Wright expands in an amusing fashion. The rest of March 17th's assignment is to know that, "Bay trees, Agapanthus lilies, Hydrangeas, and such other plants as grow in tubs can be given fresh soil and enrichment now. They can also be re-tubbed."

I picked up "Another Gardener's Bed Book" rather reluctantly, for I would sooner let some one else nurture the flowers. But now I must confess that I laid it down with much the same reluctance. I am sure that it would be worth-while to anyone who ventures into it.—J. R. M.

CRAIG ATTENDS MEETING OF N.E.L.T.A. AT BOSTON

New Constitution Presented — Association Founded at Trinity

On October 28, a meeting of the New England Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis Association was held in Boston. The chief business of the meeting was the presentation of a new constitution drawn up by Edgar Craig, '34, secretary-treasurer of the Association and captain of tennis at Trinity. The N. E. I. L. T. A. was founded at Trinity in 1883.

The meeting was called by Dr. Alan W. Rowe, chairman of the advisory council. Other officers are Robert Husted of Dartmouth, president; William Brown of Williams, vice-president; and Edgar Craig of Trinity, secretary-treasurer. The purpose of this council has been to reorganize the association, which has been on the decline due to laxity of student management. The first step was the drawing up of the constitution by Edgar Craig. Discussion of this matter and a report of finances by Dr. Rowe occupied the remaining time of the meeting.

In the first year of its founding, the representatives of Trinity in the annual tournament held by the association were C. M. Kurtz and E. I. Purdy. Since then, Trinity has participated intermittently in this tournament; and although it has won several second prizes, G. M. Brinley is the only Trinity man who has won first prize, which he did in the singles matches of 1886.

MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY.

Next Sunday morning, November 12, the Sunday after Armistice Day, there is to be a special military service of the Trooping of the Colors in the College Chapel. Governor Cross is to be present as Captain-General of the military forces of Connecticut, and has ordered out the band of the First Company of the Governor's Foot Guard for the occasion.

Invitations have been sent out to about eighteen military organizations in Hartford and vicinity to participate in the service by sending a Color Guard. These Guards will include standard bearers of the National Colors with the State or Regimental Colors, and two guards under arms. Before the service, weather permitting, the Governor and his Staff will review the Color Guards on the campus, after which the Governor and the invited guests will proceed into the Chapel. The Band will then play in the Colors. After a brief service, the flags will all be massed in the Chancel, and will be blessed with appropriate ceremonies. The service will close with the singing of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Alumni Notes

The Rt. Rev. Cameron J. Davis, Bishop of Western New York, asked President Ogilby to preach a memorial sermon in tribute to his friend Bishop Brent at Buffalo on Sunday evening, November 5. T. C. Brown, '16, of the Buffalo Courier-Express, took advantage of the occasion to arrange for an informal reunion of the Trinity Alumni in Buffalo and vicinity. The Hon. Alanson B. Houghton, who received an honorary degree from Trinity in 1929, President Murray Bartlett of Hobart College, honorary 1922, Barrows, '84, deMauaiac, '06, Groves, '10, and various other Trinity graduates gathered at the Bishop's house Sunday afternoon for a meeting with the President. Needless to say, the Wesleyan game was discussed in detail.

1895.

John H. Smart, of Cleveland, Ohio, in addition to his law practice takes a keen delight in growing flowers. He recently sent to the College a large barrel of narcissus bulbs to be set out around the Chapel. The slopes to the east of the Chapel have all been planted with these bulbs, which should be in their glory next May.

GLEE CLUB CONCERTS ANNOUNCED BY B. SHAW

Hartford Retreat and Edgewood
Park Junior College on Program

At the meeting of the Glee Club last Thursday evening, November 2, Barclay Shaw announced that the first concert of the season would be presented at the Hartford Retreat directly after the Thanksgiving week-end. On December 15, the club will sing at the Edgewood Park Junior College in Greenwich, where a dinner will precede the concert, after which a dance will be given. It is also probable that Trinity will enter the Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest of New England which will be held this year in Worcester in the latter part of February.

In preparation for these events the club has been working on several Negro spirituals, among which are: "The Battle of Jericho", "Somebody's Knockin' at my Door", and "Peter, Go Ring dem Bells." This year the club is also rehearsing numbers of a lighter and more popular type. Included among these are: "At the Play", "May Day Carol", and "Waters Ripple and Flow."

A group of nineteen men have formally been accepted as new members by Mr. Watters. They are: Tenors, L. C. Coit, J. V. Davis, S. N. Fisher, G. W. Innes, W. L. Merwin, Jr., T. F. Musgrave, D. M. ## ELEVEN FACES AMHERST IN SEASON'S FINAL

Jeffmen Have Won Four, Lost to Princeton and Tied Wesleyan, 0-0

The Trinity eleven faces the hardest struggle of the season in the game next Saturday with Amherst. The Lord Jeffs have one of the strongest teams in recent years, but Trinity's defeat of Wesleyan last week points to a close contest, with little advantage on either side. Wesleyan managed to hold Amherst to a scoreless tie on October 28, and after the Blue and Gold victory over the Cardinals the doubtful method of comparison of scores would give the decision to Trinity. However, Amherst's defeat of the hitherto unconquered Massachusetts State eleven, its victories over Hobart, Bates, and Union, and its game fight with a Princeton team which is well on its way to a regional championship point to an aggregation strong both defensively and offensively.

Trinity showed its real power for the first time last Saturday. Eigenbauer formed the nucleus of the team with his brilliant running and tackling, but the fine work of his running mates, Sampers, Marquet and Weber, and the sturdy forward wall showed capabilities not revealed before.

The record of the Amherst team in detail is as follows, to date:

Amherst, 38.....	Hobart 7
Amherst, 0.....	Princeton 40
Amherst, 13.....	Bates, 0
Amherst, 46.....	Union 0
Amherst, 0.....	Wesleyan 0
Amherst, 14.....	Mass. State 0

Totals: Amherst 117, Opponents 47.

SENATE DANCE SUCCESSFUL.

On Saturday night, November 4, the Senate held an informal dance to celebrate the victory of the football team over Wesleyan. The team was present as guests of the Senate, and there was a large turnout of the college body. The Trinity Troubadours supplied the music from 9 p. m. until midnight, and the dance floor in the Cook Hall Commons was crowded all evening.

The patronesses were Mrs. R. H. Motten, Mrs. A. H. Onderdonk, Mrs. R. Reynolds, Mrs. B. H. Means, Mrs. A. Wadlund, and Mrs. T. L. Hood.

Robert Daut was chairman of the dance committee.

HARRIERS SCORE OVER WESLEYAN, 20 TO 35

Gladwin Leads Pack in 14.4.6;
First Cross-Country Meet
With Wesleyan

On Friday, November 3, following the freshman football game, the cross-country team defeated Wesleyan, 20 to 35. The first man to finish the difficult course was Gladwin, Trinity veteran, who covered it in 14 minutes, 4.6 seconds. He was followed, but never seriously threatened, by Basten, Wesleyan mainstay. In rapid succession Mountford, Bauer, and French, Blue and Gold freshmen who have showed much promise this year, took the next three places. A Cardinal runner, MacGregor, came in sixth. Lane of Trinity took seventh place, and Burr, Manning, and Osborn of Wesleyan finished in the last three positions.

This is the first time that the Blue and Gold harriers have met Wesleyan, and it is hoped that this is the beginning of a new annual contest.

The next cross-country run will be with the Coast Guard Academy in Hartford on Thursday, November 9.

Milder

..yes I like that word
about cigarettes

"When I think of milder cigarettes nowadays, I always think of Chesterfields.

"Because Chesterfields are milder. They've got plenty of taste and aroma to them but they've got mildness too!

"I smoke Chesterfields all day long —when I'm working and when I'm not, and there's no time when a Chesterfield doesn't taste milder and better.

"I'll put in a good word any time for a cigarette like Chesterfields—they're mild and yet they Satisfy."

ROVER BOYS.

Inasmuch as the purpose of this article is only to introduce our triumvirate of sparkling-eyed, well set-up youths, we will say goodbye to them here as they greet the morning refreshed and eager, ready to begin another day in their life as members of the undergraduate body. However, in case you're interested, they will be inflicted upon you next week and for a great many weeks after that and you, as well as you and you and you, will be given the opportunity to romp with them through each succeeding crowded day. And here we say good-bye.

FRESHMEN LOSE.

The Blue and Gold team kicked out to the 35-yard line. Klinger of Wesleyan ran the ball 35 yards around right end for a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed once more and the score was tied at 12 to 12. The third quarter ended after some mid-field play.

In the last period the ball see-sawed back and forth around the 50-yard line. Wesleyan finally intercepted a pass. Three line plays netted a total of 16 yards. Robins threw a pass to Klinger and the latter ran for a touchdown. The place kick for the extra point was good, making the score 19 to 12. The Cardinals kicked off, and Trinity tried to score by an aerial attack, but the game ended 19 to 12.

The line-up was as follows:

Trinity		Wesleyan
Lindell	LE	Hickey

Budd	LG	Pizzi
D'Angelo	C	Haynes

WESLEYAN GAME.

that Trinity was playing the better game. Eigenbauer went 17 yards on an end run.

The Blue and Gold stepped out in the last quarter. Marquet, on the first play, passed to Eigenbauer, who took the ball on Wesleyan's 20-yard marker and ran for Trinity's first touchdown. Amport place-kicked successfully, giving Trinity the lead 7 to 6. Eigenbauer featured again after the kickoff by intercepting a pass from Huntress on Trinity's 45-yard line and running it back 28 yards to the opposite 27-yard line. Once again Eigenbauer took the ball, gaining 15 yards more through tackle, and ending up on Wesleyan's 12-yard marker. Wesleyan knocked down two passes intended to result in an immediate score and finally won the ball on downs. Trinity held the opponents in the latter's danger zone, took the ball on downs, reached the Cardinals' 6-yard line and lost the ball on downs. Wesleyan went as far as its own 17-yard line and gave Trinity the ball through a fumble recovered by Amport. Sampers plowed through center for a score. Amport again won the extra point on a place-kick, setting Trinity eight points ahead. There was no more scoring; however, Wesleyan, as the result of a series of frantic forward and lateral passes, was on Trinity's 19-yard line when the game ended, 14 to 6.

The entire Blue and Gold eleven showed a coördination in team play and a glamour of individual action not seen for some years. Coach Dan Jessee received from all sides compliments of the highest order on the team which he put on the field Saturday. Jack Maher has been named by sports writers as the strongest center in this section, and in the conversation of many alumni rooters Eigenbauer was termed "the best ball carrier Trinity has ever seen." The dynamic offense and stubborn defense of the line, especially on the parts of Captain Kingston at guard and Hanaghan at tackle, made a combination that won the highest of praise.

Steeped in the joy of victory, a stream of loyal Blue and Gold supporters poured out upon the field at the final whistle. Captain Kingston was carried from the battlefield on the eager shoulders of undergraduates. A small army made its way to the lower end of the field, destructively intent on the goal posts, only to find the Middletown police ahead of them. The visitors retreated to the opposite end of the field, and the goal posts tottered. Shouts grew louder. Advent of Middletown police again. Return to posts previously attacked. Their ambition was realized, and, as a result, splinters of wood, white canvas covering, and masses of hair padding were proudly conveyed to Hartford at the close of a memorable afternoon.

The summary:
